Governance and Constitutional Objectives

We have a registered constitution which states that we are governed by a structure of volunteer trustees (also known as Board members) Board members are legally responsible for the charity and meet a minimum of 4 times a year (including committee meetings).

The Board members are supported by co-opted board members. Co-opted board members are asked to join as co-optee's by Board members for their particular skills. Co-optee's have no legal responsibilities and are not registered with the charities commission, they may, however, vote on non-legal matters where invited to do so by the board members.

In addition, from time to time our governance is strengthened by commissioning external independent advisors who are not connected to the Charity.

Board and co-opted board members are also automatically Committee members. Committee members are interested in the work of the charity, they support the charity by representing it in a good light and advising its Board members of the community in which it works. Committee members attend 2 committee meetings a year (includes the AGM) and pay an annual membership fee of £10. They have no legal responsibilities nor any voting rights.

Furthermore, when commissioning individuals or SME's, OLDP will ask that they become committee members, in so much as we believe in the ethics of community currency 'Supporting small and medium enterprises: Community currencies can also help SMEs support each other financially by lending and receiving credit, goods and services within the currency network. Examples are: Bristol Pound'

All members, Board, Co-opted and committee have a written job role.
